Full-day tour of Mallorca

Type: Classic

Mallorca, the largest of the Balearic Islands, is no stranger to tourists. Join us for a tour of the heart of the island and its charming villages surrounded by farmland and olive and almond groves. We'll take in the beauty of the Serra de Tramuntana, a mountain range that has been declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site that forms a backbone on the island along the northwestern coast. We'll visit Valldemossa, a village steeped in old-world charm, tucked in the middle of the mountains, and surrounded by lush forests. Our tour includes the Valldemossa Charterhouse, where George Sand and Frederic Chopin wrote and composed, respectively, some of their greatest work. We'll then visit the island's vibrant and stylish capital, Palma, traveling through the lovely small streets of its historic district to pay a visit to the imposing 14th-century cathedral known as La Seu.
