Guided tour of the Petit Palais

Duration: 3h · Type: Classic

Departure by coach to discover the charm and elegance of the Petit Palais through a guided tour combining heritage, art and history. Built by the architect Charles Girault for the 1900 Universal Exhibition, this architectural jewel is now the Museum of Fine Arts of the City of Paris and remains one of the finest examples of Paris during the Belle Époque. Before exploring this exceptional monument, you will enjoy a pleasant guided walk in its surroundings, along the banks of the Seine and the prestigious Champs-Élysées, in the heart of an emblematic district of the capital where history, culture and Parisian elegance meet. Inside, let yourself be captivated by the richness of the décor and the harmony of the setting: colorful mosaics, monumental frescoes, elegant glass roofs and delicate ironwork reflect the architectural refinement of the period. You will also admire the magnificent vaulted galleries, busts of famous artists and the celebrated dome decorated by Maurice Denis, a true masterpiece of the museum. This visit offers a unique cultural and artistic immersion in the heart of Parisian refinement, in a setting that is both majestic and intimate, where every detail reflects the prestige and elegance of the French capital.
